LEDBURY STUDIO

*Charlie Smallbone,
the founder of iconic
luxury interiors company Smallbone of Devizes, is launching a new brand, Ledbury Studio, with its first showroom opening
in Notting Hill, London.*

This latest venture by Charlie, who has been pushing the boundaries of kitchen design for more than four decades, was born of his desire to harness the beauty of original materials while creating practical kitchens that exude style and elegance.

“During my career, kitchens have evolved exponentially but we still strive for the same qualities of function and for the best quality of life,” Charlie explains. “My designs for Ledbury Studio are all about smooth functionality with an emphasis on space to cook, live and entertain.”

Located in charming Ledbury Mews, Ledbury Studio is fittingly just a stone’s throw from where Charlie launched the first Smallbone showroom in 1981. The well-dressed space will star the Metallics Collection, a new design which has its roots in a kitchen Charlie originally created for a display at the RHS Chelsea Flower Shower 2018. Kitchens from Ledbury Studio start from £50,000.
